

tions to aerospace education of the nation's youth."

He is the Federal Aviation Agency's Mervin K. Strickler, Jr., an FAA Congressional Fellow, serving on the staff of Senator Lee Metcalf of Montana.

As special assistant for aviation education in the FAA, Strickler developed programs which increased the agency's participation in aviation education by providing services and materials to schools, colleges and teachers.

He lives with his wife, a son and daughter in Hillcrest Heights.

For his long and enthusiastic work in the field, he will receive the Frank G. Brewer Trophy in ceremonies at Tucson, Ariz., during the annual banquet of the National Aerospace Education Council.

Mr. METCALF. Mr. President, because of the great interest in the congressional fellowship program, I wish to share some of the basic information about it with Members of the Congress. Those who are fortunate enough to be selected for the program participate in activities which include:

Attendance at an intensive and comprehensive orientation program on the legislative branch conducted by the American Political Science Association in preparation for later work assignments.

Full-time work assignments in the offices of Congressmen and Senators and with staff members of congressional committees.

Participation in weekly seminar meetings with leading congressional, governmental, and academic figures.

From these and other related experiences, the participants in this program obtain:

A thorough knowledge of the organization of Congress.

A well-balanced understanding of the legislative process and the factors and forces which influence it.

Some congressional perspective of national objectives and executive branch operations.

A sound grasp of the scope and variety of congressional responsibilities and their relationship to the total process of government.

It is my privilege to serve as a member of the Congressional Fellowship Advisory Committee. Other members of this committee include:

Dr. Max Kampelman, Washington attorney, chairman.

Mr. Ben Bagdikian, contributing editor, Saturday Evening Post.

Mr. David S. Broder, correspondent, Washington Post.

Hon. WILLIAM M. McCULLOCH, Representative from Ohio.

Dr. Mark Ferber, University of California.

Hon. Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture.

Hon. John W. Macy, Jr., Chairman, U.S. Civil Service Commission.

Hon. HUGH SCOTT, Senator from Pennsylvania.

Hon. MORRIS K. UDALL, Representative from Arizona.

I ask unanimous consent to insert the list of the 1966-67 congressional fellows, with an indication of their background and where they are currently assigned.

There being no objection, the list was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:
